

CALL FOR PAPERS

“The Polish Journal of the Arts and Culture. New Series”

We invite contributors to submit papers for the next issues of the “The Polish Journal of the Arts and Culture. New Series”, a peer reviewed academic journal indexed in ICI Journals Master List, ERIH Plus and CEEOL.

This publication’s field of interest concerns man as a creator of culture while being subject to its influence. In the PJACNS most of the space is devoted to comparative studies and models explaining similarities and intercultural differences. As interdisciplinary studies significantly enrich the contemporary humanistic discourse we seek to cooperate with philologists, historians of religion, philosophers, cultural anthropologists and all who wish to share their reflections on cultural phenomena and civilisation by using their own tools of interpretation.

Our magazine has room for articles, reviews, reports and discussion of publications and events important to the wider discourse of cultural studies.

“The Polish Journal of the Arts and Culture. New Series” also contains an Interpretatio Mundi section, which contains as yet unpublished translations from works in their original language. We are interested in the translations of works (or parts thereof) representing the ancient and modern literature of individual cultures. So here we present religious, philosophical and ethical-moral considerations as well as myths, legends and fairy tales, as well as other genres and original literary forms such as songs, travel writings and aphorisms. We believe that the language spoken by a given culture holds the key to its understanding. In this way, we let culture speak its own language, and not only that of scientific interpretation.

Submission deadline: 31st August 2018 for issue 1(2018) of PJACNS (date of issue: December 2018). Articles (and other texts) send after this date will be considered for following issues.

We invite all Authors to read the instructions, “For Authors” available on our website (<http://www.ejournals.eu/PJACNS>). Full papers (.doc files) should be submitted via email (pjac@uj.edu.pl). “The Polish Journal of the Arts and Culture” provides proofreading for all papers accepted for publication.
